Vernita Whitaker Naylor is a Bay Area, California native who has always had a love for storytelling as a way to live a life of creating, dreaming, and living to the fullest. As a child watching cartoons, listening to music and the radio, she always wondered who the people were behind the characters and mediums. Fast forward, she has become a part of the music, entertainment, and acting industry, and uses her talents to encourage, empower, and tell stories that others want to hear.
